Hello, business students. This assignment allows you to apply our textbook theory and information to the real world. As you begin research on this assignment, you will notice that both Abercrombie and Fitch and Hooters have each had several court cases. So this is not an isolated case. One Abercrombie and Fitch case went all the way to the Supreme Court. Cases include claims of discrimination based on race, religion, weight or look-based, and gender. These are some interesting cases.

For this assignment, you need to strongly reflect each company strategic workforce planning process. Be specific here and tie it to the concepts in our textbook. You want to show that you are understanding how to apply the theory to the real world.
