

MKT 345 Module Four Short Paper Guidelines and Rubric

Overview: For this assignment, due in Module Four, you will submit a brief 1- to 2-page paper in which you first analyze the various stages of the consumer buying process and then develop 8 to 10 survey questions that can be used when evaluating a purchase decision for a product. This assignment will help prepare you for your Milestone Two presentation on the consumer buying process.

Prompt: First, read the article Consumer Buying Process and watch the video 7 Tips for Good Survey Questions. In a brief 1- to 2-page paper, address the following:

- Which stage of the consumer buying process do you believe leads most directly to a consumer's purchase decision? Explain your reasoning.
- How does an understanding of these stages help companies determine consumers' different influences and motivations in making purchases?
- Which survey questions should you ask in order to obtain the most important and relevant information for your selected market segment for the final project? Include 8 to 10 sample questions.
- How will the survey be administered? How will results be collected?
- Justify your use of the survey: Why does the survey need to be conducted? What are you trying to answer with the survey? Be sure to discuss demographic profiling and the type of scale used.

Cite from the article, the video, and other research to support your responses.

Specifically, the following critical element must be addressed:

- I. Describe the stages of the consumer buying process that lead to a purchase decision and examine how an understanding of these stages informs a company's marketing campaign.
- II. Create 8 to 10 survey questions that target a specific market segment for a consumer product, and describe how the survey will be conducted.

Rubric

Guidelines for Submission: The short paper should follow these formatting guidelines: 1–2 pages in length, double spaced, 12-point Times New Roman font, one-inch margins, and citations in APA style.

Critical Elements	Exemplary (100%)	Proficient (85%)	Needs Improvement (55%)	Not Evident (0%)	Value
Stages of Consumer Buying Process	Meets "Proficient" criteria and description contains original ideas that provide clear insight into the stages of the consumer buying process	Describes the stages of the consumer buying process that lead to a purchase decision and examines how an understanding of these stages informs a company's marketing campaign	Describes the stages of the consumer buying process that lead to a purchase decision but does not sufficiently explain how an understanding of these stages informs a company's marketing campaign	Does not describe the stages of the consumer buying process that lead to a purchase decision	40
Survey Questions	Meets "Proficient" criteria and survey questions are well developed and relevant to the particular consumer product	Includes 8 to 10 survey questions that target a specific market segment for a consumer product, and describes how the survey will be conducted	Includes 8 to 10 survey questions that target a specific market segment for a consumer product, but does not sufficiently describe how the survey will be conducted	Does not include 8 to 10 survey questions that target a specific market segment for a consumer product	40
Articulation of Response	Submission is free of errors related to citations, grammar, spelling, syntax, and organization and is presented in a professional and easy-to-read format	Submission has no major errors related to citations, grammar, spelling, syntax, or organization	Submission has major errors related to citations, grammar, spelling, syntax, or organization that negatively impact readability and articulation of main ideas	Submission has critical errors related to citations, grammar, spelling, syntax, or organization that prevent understanding of ideas	20
Total					100%