Wikipedia, news articles, and blogs will not be accepted. Refer to the Course Information link for further discussion of primary references.

1. Record the dream.
2. Guess what daily experiences it concerns.
3. What “emotion schemas” does the dream evokes to deal with this experience? How is this emotion schema symbolized?
4. How does this schema relate to childhood and adolescent (prior) experience?
5. In what sense is this schema cultural?
6. Is there any “extra-semantic knowledge” in the dream? How is it symbolized? How do these symbols borrow cultural symbolism?
7. How does the dream enact this emotional tension or conflict in its entirety, fusing your past and present experiences?
8. How is this emotional tension or conflict representative of conflicts in your culture? You can use what you learned about American culture earlier in this course.
