

MODIFIERS	Penalty	Remarks
Does this meet the required word count?		If below the required word count, the final grade will be multiplied by the % word count submitted.
% word count submitted = word count of paper not including title, bibliography, footnotes, etc. / proposed word count
Was the paper submitted by the due date?		10 points off final grade per calendar day late.
Did you use a footnote or endnote?		1 point off for each footnote and each endnote.
Did you claim something as fact without citation?		3 points off for each instance.

CRITERIA	Penalty	Remarks
Has the author connected their work to Law and Economics concepts we have discussed in class / read in our books?	20%
Is the paper well written?	20%
Is the paper well formatted? (This includes title, name, alphabetized bibliography, consistent font and spacing, etc.)	20%
Book Review: Can I clearly understand what the entirety of the book is about based on the review?	20%
Legal Analysis: Is the legal analysis clear and relying on economic reasoning? Does it make sufficient use of topics covered in the class and in the reading to analyze a relevant area of the law?
Research Paper: Does the paper have a clear and valid conclusion based off of the author's research? (No confusing correlation with causality.)
Book Review: Does the author have a separate key insights section at the end of the paper in lieu of the bibliography that provides at least four key insights learned from the book? Each insight should be clearly explained with a minimum of three sentences each .	20%
Legal Analysis/Research Paper: How many economic journal articles from JSTOR does the paper have in the bibliography in proper Chicago author-date style ? (Minimum of four required.) If an article is in your bibliography but not cited in your paper, it will not count as one of your four.		